

LLOYD "HAPPY" PICK

Morglo Paint Store Opens in Torrance

Lloyd "Happy" Pick is the manager of the new Morglo Paint store which opened this week at 1103 Sartori ave. where the Red Feather agency used to be.

The store is said to be an unusual paint factory store. All paint sold is manufactured by "Mr. Morglo." Morglo was first to reduce fume proof exterior paints which would not turn black in the presence of factory fumes, salt air, and smog. Morglo also introduced odorless paints which were actually deodorized oils and thinners. He was also first to present a redwood oil that would last and which became nationally prominent, it was stated.

"Prices are always so low," said Pick, "that no specials are needed. But even at that we'll have some extra-specials." Though the store is open for business already, it will have a grand opening in about two weeks, Pick declared.

Pick, who has lived in Torrance for four years and who is a member of the P-T-A, Masons, and Police Reserve, is manager of all the Morglo undertakings. He has also worked for Capitol Brush co., Atlas Paint and Varnish company (salesman), Columbia Varnish company (sales supervisor), inspector for Nash Kelvinator, and inspector for Domanco Aircraft.

The store, said Pick, will cater to all people's problems and make any color paint desired. Satisfaction is guaranteed.

"Mr. Morglo" is actually Herb Glick in real life. Glick, who served in the Pacific as a G. I., has been in the paint business all his life. "In fact," said Pick, "you might say that he was weaned on a paint brush."
